Pocahontas County Landmark Commission

The Pocahontas County Landmark Commission was established by the County Court in January 1985 with the appointment of Ruth Morgan, Michael Edds, Moffett McNeel, Jessie Powell and Madge Bledsoe to serve on the Commission.

In February 1985 the Landmark Commission voted to compile a county historic register and to ask the public to submit information on sites and buildings that should be considered for inclusion. Citizens were informed of tax incentives available for persons owning property listed on the National Register of Historical Places.

In March of 1985, Chairman Michael Edds was informed Pocahontas County's request for an organizational and survey grant was approved for $3,000. In May the County Commission agreed to match the State grant and to provide office space in the Court House Annex.

On January 24, 1986, Jim Bonham, State Grants Manager, and Rodney S. Collins, Architectural Historian, both from the Department of Culture and History, two commission members and twenty-nine guests met to acquaint volunteers with the procedures used in making the survey, stressing the physical, documentational and resource phases.

Michael Edds resigned from the Commission and Ruth Morgan was elected to become their chairman. Michael Gioulis was hired as consultant for the survey and Dotty McMillian as coordinator.

The Landmark Commission strives to promote interest in preserving and recording the history of our county and with the help of many volunteers has compiled this survey with the intention of adding to it as more information on historic sites and buildings is gathered.

INTRODUCTION

The Pocahontas County Historic Landmarks Commission was formed by a number of interested citizens. Its purpose, as defined in West Virginia State enabling legislation, is to identify, register and protect historic sites in Pocahontas County. In order to better understand the available resources in the county, the Commission found it necessary to conduct a survey to identify historic sites. It applied to the West Virginia Department of Culture and History for a Survey and Planning grant to perform this activity and was successful in receiving funds. The project began in the spring of 1986 with the selection of a preservation consultant to assist the project coordinator in conducting the survey.

The project was originally designed to include the participation of the public through the use of volunteers to perform some of the survey work. It was envisioned that the volunteers could do much of the field work and the initial visits, with the consultant reviewing their work, planning and guiding it, and insuring its presentation in the appropriate professional manner. For the most part, this approach has worked in Pocahontas County. Thanks to the efforts of the project coordinator, Dotty McMillian, and the chair of the Commission, Ms. Ruth Morgan, there has been a body of volunteers available for consultation and action when necessary. Without their assistance the project could not have proceeded as it did. All of the volunteers who worked on the survey, as well as the Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission, deserve a heartfelt thanks and congratulations. In particular, the efforts of Madge Bledsoe in typing the work, the staff of the Pocahontas County Sheriff Department for putting up with the inconvenience and offering assistance and coffee when necessary to keep the consultant alive, and the expert photography of Eugene Burner and David Arrington are noted for their invaluable contribution to the successful completion of the project.

The survey was termed a reconnaissance survey from the beginning. It was recognized that little work at identifying historic sites had been accomplished in the past and the Commission was starting from the begining. The purpose of the survey is to investigate the county as a whole, identify patterns of historic development, review what resources still exist, and provide a framework for further in depth research of specific sites. It is not intended to provide information or research sites at a level possible for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. The report and the survey will be used to guide the Commission on where to concentrate efforts in future surveys and nominations.

In conducting the survey, the consultant briefly reviewed the history of the County to determine significant periods and themes of development. The survey was conducted under the basic guidelines of the proposed Resource Protection Planning program of the State of West Virginia. It is anticipated that the survey will fit into the RP3 process and format. Towards this end, the report and survey are presented in the following manner:

The county was divided into geographic areas based on the existing magisterial districts. This made the individual units more manageable and should be useful for future planning.

The themes identified were then categorized within each district as to their contribution within 13 general historic categories of the state, ie. agriculture, commerce, etc.(see list at begining of inventory).

Sites were identified by the project coordinator and volunteers contacted within each of the districts. Sites were then recorded on West Virginia Inventory forms and reviewed by the consultant for completeness. The consultant reviewed the historic significance of the site and assigned it to a particular theme. These were all then compiled in one report and mapped on a county map and numbered. Further refinement of the categorization and mapping is expected as part of a second phase project.

Most of the sites identified in this manner are therefore related to a preconceived notion of what is significant to the residents of the county. The volunteers have been involved in various historic and preservation projects in the past including the 1981 History of Pocahontas County and the restoration of the Marlinton Railroad Depot. They are therefore familiar with the history and sites in the county. The approach, then, is considered valid in identifying the locally significant sites. The next phase should include review of this work as well as some original survey work by a trained professional to locate sites that may not be apparent to residents.

The report is intended as a means of reviewing the survey project and making informed decisions on where to concentrate efforts in the future. Recommendations are made concerning continued research and potential landmark sites. The report is organized in a manner that will be useful for its reference use.

The introduction is first as a means of describing the project and familiarizing one with the process. A brief history of the county is not included due to time constraints and the availability of recent, as well as former, historical sketches that illustrate the significance of events and persons in the county's, state's and nation's history. This is followed by the Inventory Summary by district with each site given a number referring to the accompanying map, and identified within a thematic category. West Virginia State inventory forms are included for each site. Photographs of each site also accompany the report. The presentation of the inventory is followed by a recommendation section. This proposes follow up activities to be undertaken by the Landmark Commission. Some of these are long range goals and actions, some are immediate. The sites are prioritized for immediate research activity and possible National Register or Local listing.

The report will be presented to the West Virginia Department of Culture and History. A copy will also be available at the offices of the Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission. The original inventory forms, as well as any background material and research information, will be filed with the Landmark Commission. Negatives for the photos will also be maintained by the Commission for further work.

The report is not considered the final activity in the preservation of historic sites in the County. As discussed previously, it is the first step in developing a process for decision-making and activities for the protection and recognition of Pocahontas County's heritage. Further inventory work, in depth research, and other actions are necessary.

The project team would like to thank all of the persons involved in completing the survey. The local residents and interested people of Pocahontas County who gave their time and knowledge are a valuable resource for this and future work. The staff of the Historic Preservation unit in Charleston are also thanked for their assistance. The staff at the Courthouse who worked on copying the report did an outstanding job. The members of the County Commission, without whose support there would be no Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission are primary in the process. To these persons and all others who worked on the project, a hearty thanks.

Transportation

The indian trails in the county should be investigated as historic or archaeology sites.

The Staunton to Parkersburg Turnpike should be surveyed.

The Durbin Railroad Depot as well as other rairoad sites including the Water tower in Marlinton are significant.

Churches

The county is dotted with picturesque, small community churches and cemeteries. Many of these are in excellent shape and retain much of their original fabric. The specific sites identified are listed in the inventory summary.

A number of the churches reviewed were considered architecturally significant enough to warrant listing. A thematic listing can be developed for the following and other sites:

A0018 Liberty Presbyterian Church.
A0026 Dunmore United Methodist Church.
A0029 Baxter Presbyterian Church.
B006 Hamlin Chapel.
B0010 Edray United Methodist Church.
B0013 Grace Episcopal Church.
D007 Wesley Chapel Methodist Church.
D0012 Oak Grove Presbyterian Church.
D0014 Lower "Old" Droop Church.

Schools

A number of schoolhouses still exist in the county. A large number of one and two room rural schoolhouse were also identified. These are shown on the map. At one time there were schoolhouses every 5 miles or so. Many still exist in adaptive uses.

Military

The most significant site recognized in the county is the Droop Mountain Battlefield. This is a State Park and is being preserved. There are a number of sites in the Droop Mountain area that are associated with the battle. This vicinity should be surveyed for the related sites as well as the Hillsboro community. A number of other residences and sites relate to this theme. Refer to the lists for identification. The area around Bartow should be surveyed for its involvement in the Battle in that Vicinity.

Architecture

There was observed that a number of builders or architects were involved in constructing many structures in the county. These should be surveyed as a theme for each individual. Attempts should be made to locate and identify a body of work for each of these individuals. They are listed below with sites in the survey identified.

Asbury Smith. Pocahontas County Courthouse; Nick McCoy House D0034; Other houses in Marlinton.

Littlepage/Dassenville from Greenbrier County. Harper Beard House D0035.

Capt. Smith. Will Yeager House C003.

Robert Auldridge. Frank R. Hill House C004.

Frank and E.D. King.

The Historic Landmark Commission should continue the survey process, finishing the reconaissance survey for any areas not completed. The survey efforts should then turn towards the historic districts and National Register sites listed above. Then efforts should be expended on researching the sites identified as locally significant in category Two. Some of these may yield information warranting National Register nomination.

As a final comment, archaeological sites were not investigated under this project. It would be beneficial to conduct a reconnaissance survey or random sampling at some time in the near future to determine the possibility of sites in the county. Some sites are noted in the recommendations portion of the report.

The reason for the location of the tannery at Frank was to utilize the bark from the tremendous growth of Hemlock that abounded in the area and was being taken out by the new lumber industries in the area. The leather produced with a combination of hides and hemlock bark resulted in a very hard leather that was pegged onto shoes with wooden pegs. The (See attached sheet) leather would be wet and drilled. The pegs would be driven into the shoe and permitted to dry.

After the first World War, the shoe factories were mechanized and sewing machines were starting to come into use to sew the sole to the upper leather. This meant that the use of hemlock leather was over and a softer tannage was required. In 1918, a combination of extracts made from hemlock, oak, chestnut and quebracho (an extract produced from a tree of the same name from South America) was blended and the softer leather was produced.

Said to be the largest independent tanning company in the United States.

10. SIGNIFICANCE (use attachment sheet if necessary): Max Rothkugel, a forester from Austria also schooled in the first forestry school at Cornell University 1902-03. Hired by George Craig & Sons 1907 who wanted the hills where they were cutting timber to be reforested. He began by burning away logging slash to prepare seed bed.

a. Architect/Builder/Engineer:

b. Style/Period

c. Date(s): 1921

Rothkugel filled one pocket with Norway Spruce seed and the other with European Larch seed which he obtained from the Tyrolean Mountains of Austria. The seeds were planted instead of being breadcast to protect them from the birds. Black locust was planted to protect the young plants from cattle ranging in the area.

b. Style/Period Vernacular Gothic Revival

c. Dates 1900 planned 1904 dedicated

The Hevener Church is the oldest Church of the Brethren in Pocahontas County; the first one built in the Back Mt. Area from Durbin to Cass. Worship before this was held in school houses. The Hevener Family has owned the land, built the church and now some even in the fifth generation want to restore the building for use as a memorial church with a museum to keep the history of the beginning of the Brethren faith in this community. With the closing of the Brethren Church in 1966 much has been lost to the community as a whole. (See attached sheet).

10 SIGNIFICANCE (use attachment sheet if necessary): The Bethel United Methodist has been in constant use since the building and dedication in 1905, using all donated labor and material. Over the years the Bethel people have taken pride in the Church property. The first grave in the cemetery was in 1910 and until only recently have we had to charge for a burial plot due to the cost of upkeep. Our only "claim to fame" is the most beautiful church and well kept grounds for miles around.

c. Date(s) 1900

The family of Jim Sutton (born 1849) lived in a log cabin near where this house stands. They cut down trees on their farm, had lumber sawed and planed it at the building sight. Summers Sutton, the eldest son built this house. He also built for himself the house now owned by Joe Jonese and the house that is now the funeral home for his brother, Wilford. Summers Sutton was also a cabinet maker.

10 SIGNIFICANCE (use attachment sheet if necessary)

a Architect/Builder/Engineer Benjamin Arbogast, Jr. Builder

b Style/Period Federal

c Date(s) 1851

According to Wm T. Price he was "one of the most remarkable persons that ever lived in our county." As constable he managed his office and worked in it for all it was worth. At about age 20, having earned the reputation of being "the fastest" young man in the county, he did a complete "about face!", attended the Green Bank Academy, the Dickinson College and was graduated among the best in his class. He returned to Green Bank and was head master of the Academy, built the brick house across from the Academy. He went from there to Winchester, Va., as headmaster of The Female Seminary. He entered the ministry and became a noted pulpit orator. He married a Miss Gibbons, a sister of the gallant Colonel S. B. Gibbons, 10th Va. Infantry.

b Style/Period Federal Farmhouse

c Date(s) About 1885

Lee Burner was a Civil War Veteran. He was killed (1905) when thrown from a buggy at Durbin. The horse was frightened by the train. Lee's daughter, Bessie, married Granville Keller who was a noted hunter here and in the west. The house contains mounted specimens of moose and elk, in the parlor of the home. The Keller's lived with Lee Burner's widow, Rebecca Gum Burner, and inherited the house. The house was given to the Keller boys, grandsons of Bessie, at her death.

The front part of this house, plus an outside kitchen was used by Averile to feed his men when he camped overnight in Green Bank on his way to Droop Mt. He ordered the local women to cook their meals. One of the ladies, who rubbed snuff, spat in the food - hating the "feds" as they did. The present cellar was built with the stones from the old outside kitchen.

Sinking Spring:

A group of Confederate soldiers, suffering with fever, were retreating south and camped at Sinking Springs to gain strength before continuing their journey. Several of the soldiers died at this spot and are buried here (graves are unmarked today but there are sunken areas of the ground which identify their location). Several families came to the Sinking Springs location and removed bodies from the graves to return them to family cemeteries.

The Sinking Springs water is Chalyheate. The spring appears and disappears three different places.
